Tents and blankets needed as winter approaches

Your donations have provided basic needs for 100 Nepali Christian families affected by the catastrophic flooding in August. Now tents, blankets, sleeping mats and more are needed for those whose homes were washed away

Your gifts have fed hundreds of Christians affected by the devastating floods in Nepal last month. Thank you for giving and praying. But winter is coming to this mountainous land. Tents, sleeping mats, blankets and cooking utensils are needed for the homeless survivors. Will you help again?

The first phase of relief provided rice, lentils, cooking oil and salt, handwash and soap for 100 of the neediest Christian families. The cost of the food aid, including transport, was less than £25 per family.

Remika and her two daughters were one of the families helped. Remika's husband, Pastor Bed, died in the floods. Eleven of his church members are still missing. The church building was destroyed along with about 200 nearby homes. "The area has been flattened, as though nothing had ever existed there," says a TBF Trust staff member on the ground in Nepal.

The building and pastor may be gone, but Remika and her daughters hope that the church planted by Bed, a convert from Hinduism, will remain a place of Christian faith, support and hope for the community.

Please pray for this bereaved family and all affected by the floods in Nepal and Tibet. Christians are amongst those suffering in both countries.

- A gift of £10 could purchase a sleeping mat for a homeless Christian family.
- A gift of £20 could purchase a blanket for a homeless Christian family.
- A gift of £150 could cover the cost of a high-quality tent that would last for two to three years.
